How to answer the questions in the second part?

You are offered a test consisting of statements opposite in meaning. Each statement brings out important properties of your personality and behavior in some life situations. There are no correct or incorrect statements in the test. Therefore, be frank, give the assessment that first comes to your mind. Know that insincerity will lead to undesirable results for you.

All statements are separated by a rating scale. Before assessing, read both statements carefully and determine which one best suits your personality. If you think that it is left, then mark the numbers "-2" and "-1" for evaluation, if you think that it is right, then use the numbers "2" and "1". With numbers you will reflect the degree of expressiveness of the assessed statement: "-2" and "2" - strongly expressed, "-1" and "1" are weakly expressed. If you doubt that the statement fits your personality, then mark the number "0".

Be careful with your ratings.

After answering the last question, press the button "End test".

After that, your result will be saved, but only members of the selection committee will have access to it.

Answer the questions as sincerely as possible, give the natural answer that comes to your mind first. Remember that there are no "good" or "bad" answers.

Passing a psychological test is aimed at determining the degree to which your moral and business qualities correspond to the military profession. It also determines the level of your reserve capabilities and professional and personal potential.
